HISTORY CLUE #7

Fireworks have been a Fourth of July tradition since 1777 — but Seattle's Great Fire of 1889 was started by an overturned glue pot, not by sparklers or rockets. To learn more about the Great Fire, read page 7 of Bart's Travelogue. If you don't already have a Travelogue, you can find one in the Magical History Tour section at the front of your local Bartell Drugs store — or visit historylink.org/bart.

YOUR MISSION: Many Americans saw fireworks displays last night. Did you? Tell us about the last fireworks show you saw. Then go to the library or look on HistoryLink.org to find the name of the business where Seattle's Great Fire started. Complete the following information, then drop your entry in a Bartell Drugs Magical History Tour drop box or mail it to the address below.

Where you watched the fireworks _____
 Describe your favorite firework _____
 Name of business where Great Fire started _____
(staple a piece of paper to this clue if you need more space)

Name _____
 Age _____ School _____
 Name of parent or legal guardian _____
 Parent/legal guardian's e-mail address _____
 Address _____ Phone number _____
 City _____ State _____ ZIP _____

Mail entry form to: 2010 Magical History Tour, 4727 Denver Ave S, Seattle, WA 98134

Enter our weekly drawing for your chance to win four tickets to Seafair and an Oberto inflatable hydroplane. Plus, five second-place winners will each receive a $10 Bartell Drugs gift card. You will also be entered into our grand-prize drawing for a family vacation to Great Wolf Lodge, including a two-night stay in a Wolf Den Suite, breakfast passes for four, water park passes for four and $120 USD.

You must complete all requested information and your entry must be deposited in a Bartell Drugs drop box by Sunday, July 11, 2010, or postmarked by Monday, July 12, 2010, to be eligible for the weekly drawing.
